What’s happening Week 3?

Center for the Study of Women Travel Grants
The UCLA Center for the Study of Women is now accepting applications for Travel Grants from UCLA graduate and undergraduate students. Travel grants assist graduate and undergraduate UCLA students with travel expenses related to academic or professional conference presentations and field research on women, gender, and sexuality. Awardees will be selected on the basis of merit and must be registered during the quarter when travel occurs and when the reimbursement is processed. Travel must be for research or a conference pertaining to women, gender, and sexuality. Awardees will be honored at the CSW Awards Reception at the end of the academic year. Are you interested in studying abroad? We got you covered because this week we will provide tips about UCEAP! October is Study Abroad Month, which is a celebration of all things study abroad, including program options, student experiences, financial aid and scholarships, and much more! Check out all of the Study Abroad Month events of the Study Abroad website.

What is UCEAP?
The University of California Education Abroad Program (UCEAP) is the official, system wide study abroad program for all institutions in the UC system. UCEAP is partnered with 115 universities worldwide and offers programs in 42 countries. These UC-approved programs combine immersive learning with engaging activities. UCEAP students enroll in courses abroad while earning UC units and maintaining UCLA student status. Many programs offer internship, research, and volunteer opportunities. Financial aid and scholarships are available for qualifying students.

Who is Eligible for UCEAP?
To participate in UCEAP, you must be an undergraduate or graduate student at UCLA. Program options are available for students starting the summer after their freshman year. Most EAP deadlines are 6-9 months before departure. Students are encouraged to meet with a UCEAP counselor early in their college career to plan and prepare for a summer, quarter, semester, or year abroad.

Do I need to know a foreign language?
Many UCEAP countries have options that do not require prior knowledge of a foreign language and offer a plethora of courses taught in English. However, some programs only offer coursework in the language of the host country. Students interested in studying a foreign language abroad should note that UCEAP also offers many Language and Culture programs with minimal language prerequisites. Students should meet with a UCEAP counselor in 1332 Murphy Hall for more specifics about different program requirements and application guidelines.

Can I apply if I am a transfer student?
Of course! Although transfer students might have tighter schedules and more to consider when planning on studying abroad, transfer students are encouraged to explore all study abroad options and plan carefully in consultation with a UCEAP counselor.

Where can I get more information?
Visit http://uc.eap.ucop.edu to access information about various programs, deadlines, and applications. In addition, do not hesitate to make an appointment with a UCEAP counselor or visit https://ieo.ucla.edu/ for more information.

CONDUITS
Are you looking for hidden campus gems to enhance your time at UCLA? Look no further! Every week Conduits will feature a campus resource, selected by our very own ASK Peer Counselors, that will help you maximize your academic and social experience at UCLA.

UCLA is a diverse institution that welcomes scholars and students from all over the world. The Dashew Center for International Students & Scholars is a resource for both international and domestic students! International students can find services related to visa, employment, study abroad, and immigration. Students are encouraged to speak with Dashew Center staff about transitioning into a new culture or exploring the city. Domestic students can find programs like Global Siblings and Language Development to gain a deeper understanding of different cultures. It is when cultural awareness and sensitivity are cultivated across the whole community, that UCLA becomes truly diverse. If you are interested in learning more about Dashew Center, please visit their website www.internationalcenter.ucla.edu or follow their Facebook page @DashewCenter.
